

My happiest day

revised, 18/1 3'

My dream day would start off with waking up in a beach house in Hawia. I would wake up and just look at the beautiful view of the beach. After waking up and getting up I would make my bed and go to the kitchen. Once, I got to the kitchen I would eat french toast, egg, bacon and strawberries buffae style for breakfast but I would take it outside and eat it outside on the chairs. After, I would finish eating my delicious, nutritious breakfast I would go back inside and put my plates inside and go back upstairs and get dressed into a jumpsuit with the colours dark green, white and blush pink with hawian flowers on it which in my opinion is cute with the shoes. My toenails would be painted the amazing colour pastel yellow, which in my opinion is one of the most summery colour along with any other pastel colour, and my nails would be the colour torquoise [pastel of course] with miniscule soft yellow flowers on my pointe and middle fingers the others would be delicate torquoise. I would french braid my hair simple but adorable. After I had gotten ready for the day I would probably make a tiktok as I would have a fascinating background. The next, marvelous activity of my day would most likely be getting dressed into my swimming suit with flowers on probably a one piece with puffy shoulders the colour navy blue. I would probably get into the swimming pool with some of my bestest friends from school and not. Soon after, we would have a snack pretzels, fruit and a drink. Later on we would go down to the beach, which wouldn't probably be too far from the beach house. At the beach, me and my friends would take some pictures on my polaroid camera and just on our phone cameras and make some tiktoks possibly to make memories. Next, we would probably get into the ocean to have a glorious time swimming, playing games, surfing, chatting and being crazy like usual. Most likely, we would play games like truth or dare, most likely to and more. When we would get out of the sea we would go out to the sand. Before going back to the beach house, we would go to the shopping mall and go and eat dinner somewhere delicious. At the beach house we would have a sleepover and get a bunch of snacks, watch a movie, have fun and play games. Lastly, after all of the fun we would go to sleep.
